

ALWAYS THE SAME PRICE.
But The Star is Continually Improving and Leads the Procession.

The Star is justly proud of its record. Every afternoon at 3:35 o'clock it makes its appearance on the streets and is quickly scattered by thousands throughout the city, finding its way to the home circle of every Washington family. The rapidity with which The Star is printed and delivered from door to door is astonishing, but that is something that the public sees every day. Something that it does not see and can only vaguely comprehend is the complete system of gathering news from all parts of the world and putting it in type. Everything has to work with clock-like regularity and lightning speed. A live afternoon paper has to hustle, and this The Star does. It prints later and fuller news in its regular editions than any paper in the country. This is done every week day, but on Saturdays the task is doubled, for the Saturday Star is invariably a sixteen-page paper, and it always contains enough good solid reading matter to carry the reader over Sunday. Special pains are taken to make Saturday's Star attractive and entertaining, and every eight-page supplement is a credit to any newspaper in the world. Tomorrow's issue will be right up in the front ranks of the procession, and thousands of readers may anticipate a literary treat. The following are some of its attractions:

Death of Spencer Mussey.

Spencer Mussey, eldest son of Gen. H. D. and Ellen Spencer Mussey, died this morning at the family residence, 2129 K street northwest. He was compelled to leave the High School in his second year on account of ill health, but after a year's private study he entered Lehigh University in the class of '94. A week ago he returned home, having had a severe attack of the grippe, the complications of which proved fatal.

He was a young man of decided ability and of a loveable and amiable temperament. Last summer he was converted in the New Church by Dr. Mr. Fox, who had baptized him when an infant, and subsequently became a member of the Rev. Chauncy Gile's church in Philadelphia.

TROTTING HORSE BREEDERS.

Election of Directors—Wallace's Register to Be Purchased.

The stockholders of the new American Trotting Horse Register Company met again in Chicago yesterday morning and elected W. P. Ijams of Indiana chairman and Morris J. Jones of Nebraska secretary. A committee was appointed to wait upon the world's fair directors and endeavor to secure recognition of the trotting horse interest commensurate with its importance as the leading stock interest in the country. The following directors were then chosen: H. C. Jewett and C. J. Hanlin, New York; F. S. Waters and John L. Mitchell, Wisconsin; J. C. Sibley, Pennsylvania; the Hon. N. J. Colman, Missouri; F. E. Parker, New Jersey; W. H. Jones, Nebraska; Walter Clark, Michigan; W. W. H. Hines and C. W. F. Gage, Tennessee; C. F. Emery and F. Rockfeller, Ohio; H. Chamberlin, Virginia; W. M. C. Hill, Texas; W. L. Johnson, Arkansas; F. S. Gorden, Indiana; W. H. Raymond, Montana; S. H. Rundell, Connecticut; A. M. Garcelon, Maine; Dan Delahousse, Oregon; George W. Hooker, Vermont; E. A. Smith, Kentucky; H. C. McGehee, P. F. Johnson, Kentucky, and C. G. Bruce, Minnesota.

The purchase of Wallace's trotting register for $6,000 was consummated, and as soon arranged for the removal of the plant, including the "Register," the "Monthly" and the "Year Book" will be removed from New York to Chicago.

Legal Notices.

Wallace's Register has been issued by the clerk of the court as follows: Edwin W. Wilson and Annie Elizabeth May, both of Hampton, Va.; Wm. Basel Payne of Alexandria, Va., and Conaway Jones; Samuel E. Lewis and Rose Eva Houston.

The liberal opposition have succeeded in forming a government in Prince Edward Island. This is the first time in fourteen years that the liberals have been in power.

THE VAGRANTS ARE MARCHING.

Judge Kimball Sends a Number of "Vags" Down and Fines Other Offenders.

"Listen to my tale of woe" was the appropriate tune that was being played on a piano in the neighborhood of the Police Court this morning when Judge Kimball's procession of prisoners appeared and marched to their place in front of the judge's bench.

Annie Crawford, a confirmed vagrant, was the first victim, and when arraigned as a "vag" her response was, "I am not guilty." Annie's past record as well as her present conduct was discussed and she was asked what she had to say in her own behalf. She said that she had a good home and would like to go to it.

"How long since you were here last?" the judge inquired.

"I have never been before you before," was her response.

"I know that," said the judge, "but how long was it before I came here?"

The judge and Annie "I've been so sick this morning" was the reply.

"Then you had better go down where you can be treated for your illness. Sixty days."

AN OLD OFFENDER.

She spends nine-tenths of her time in the work house," was what Policeman Metton said of a colored woman named Rachael Robinson, who was charged with being a Maryland sinner.

She was also charged with an act of disorder. She pled guilty to both charges and was sent off for sixty days.

Julia Banks, a colored woman who was arrested on Maryland avenue, asked the forgiveness of the court. She was in on a charge of being a vagrant.

"I am one of the work house the other day," said Julia. "What down there I had the grip and when I came out I drank a little too much beer." "You can go back for sixty days," said the judge.
